GR 221
Dry-stone Route

description:

First GR in Mallorca. This route was designed to allow people go along the Serra de Tramuntana from one end to the other. The name “Piedra Seca” is due to the many constructions along the Serra de Tramuntana that are made of stone, without mortar. Therefore all along the way we shall see spectacular terraces, huts and coal-mines, lost in the middle to the forest; lime-kiln. At high levels and many other constructions that are associated to the human being and to the environment where he lived and how he made good use of. All these elements are combined with spectacular views; the highest peaks, the northern coast and small beaches, the whole “pla” of Mallorca, luxuriant oak woods and dry barren mountains zones.

The Dry Stone “Piedra Seca” route was created by the Consell de Mallorca and was presented as an eight-stage route. At this point in time and due to problems in the passage of some paths and waiting for some refuges still under construction to be open up, Escull Aventura offers the following route in 6 stages.

Estellencs – Esporles/Valldemossa - Deià – Port de Sóller – Tossals – Lluc – Pollença

There is no need to go along the whole route. At every starting and/or ending point of each stage, the route can be commenced or finished. Also, we offer different types of lodgings to fit with the demand. Therefore, we can go along the route staying at hotels or “agroturismos” or use the mountain refuges provided by the Consell de Mallorca.

Estellencs - Esporles

GR 221
Dry-stone Route

description:
The original layout of the road has been modified due to problems of access through "Es Rafel" property. However, this does not mean that the new road will not be so interesting. We shall start walking up among olive terraces and then among a pine grove to end up in an oak forest that will lead us to "la mola de Planissi".
We shall take advantage of some clearings to appraise the profile of the "Serra de Tramuntana", ending up in the sea.
Upon arriving at Esporles, we shall be able to reach the old property of "La Granja" that originally was an Arab farmhouse and that we turned out into a Cistercian monastery and nowadays has been tuned into an ethnological museum.

starting point: Estellencs arriving point: Esporles

difficulty: Medium. 14,3km approximate timing: 5 h.

Esporles - Deià

GR 221
Dry-stone Route

description:

This stage will give us an amazing diversity of spots. The road previously used by coalmen, hunters, shepherds, woodsmen, walkmen will offer us deep forest oaks with “ajubs” (Old water tanks made of dry stone), “rotles de sitja” (rounded coal heaver settle) as well as the corresponding Coalman Cabins and “Coll de tords” (Bird-Ned-Hunting Place). Also we will be surprised by the ample sights of Valldemossa and as we go up we shall see “na Foradada” that will be a delight as well as the road of the Archduke that is an engineering masterpiece.

starting point: Esporles (6 days) / Valldemossa (5 days)

arriving point: Deià

The easiest stage goes between Deià and Sóller and will allow us to get back our strength and enjoy the village of Deià; its olive terraces (XV century), the fortified possession of Muleta Gran, the small little church (XVII century) and cape gross lighthouse (XIX century). It is worth visiting the little beach of Deià and discover its Mediterranean scent, its fishermen little house and small boats.

NOTE: Possibility of swimming, depending on the season of the year.
4ª Etapa
Pto. Sóller – Ref. Tossals

GR 221
Dry-stone Route

description:
Very complete stage and deeply uneven. We will have the opportunity to go into Sóller village as well as into the little villages of Binibassi and Biniaraix. We shall walk up the Biniaraix canyon, former story road that communicated Sóller and Lluc. This place has been declared of Cultural Interest (1994) due to the valuable dry stone works. We shall see beautiful terraces, orange tree and olive groves, springs, washing houses, ditches, watering holes, water-wheels, etc.

Very interesting stage from a naturalist point of view. We shall go through wooded zones, thick oak-woods deciduous trees that belonged to colder eras, as well as rare species such as the box tree and the yew tree. Landscape surrounded by the high peak such as Puig Major, Massanella, Puig de L’Ofe and ethnological, discovering the dry stone constructions mat are related to how vegetal coal was made and colmen huts. Also snow pits that can be seen at the massif of Massanella and that are protected by having being declared in 2001 Place of Ethnological interest. Near the end of the stage, we shall go by Lluc, the most important center of pilgrimage in the island. This fact has been documented since the XIII century.
6ª Etapa
Lluc - Pollença

GR 221
Dry-stone Route

This is the last stage of GR221 and will lead us first through karstic stormy spots nearly Lluc. Oak groves, some of them hundred years old, and surrounded by the last peaks of the Tramuntana range of mountains. We will end up in a road dated back to the Romans era. We will be accompanied by the dry stone constructions that are linked to the coalmen activity (huts, charcoal burning sites). We shall also find springs, terraces and big houses.
